REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. This is an Examiner's statement of reason for allowance.
2. Regarding the claimed terms, the Examiner notes that a "general term must be understood in the context in which the inventor presents it." In re Glaug 283 F.3d 1335, 1340, 62 USPQ2d 1151, 1154 (Fed. Cir. 2002). Therefore the Examiner must interpret the claimed terms as found on pages 1-7 of the specification. Clearly almost all the general terms in the claims may have multiple meanings. So where a claim term "is susceptible to various meanings, . . . the inventor's lexicography must prevail . . . ." Id. Using these definitions for the claims, the claimed invention was not reasonably found in the prior art.
3. The closest prior art Keene et al (U.S. PG Pub 2004/0049294 A1) which discloses a system/method for use in improving profitability. JP2004/362289 A, Nakada, Masato discloses a method of providing support for enhancing the satisfaction of customers and improving the organization business efficiency and profitability. However, neither Keene nor Nakada singularly or in combination discloses the recited feature:

As per claims 1, 18, 25 and 26 "in accordance with the terms of an agreement among the business entities, allowing at least one of the business entities to receive information gathered from the common database, where the information includes data describing some aspect of a business relationship between at least one of the business entities and another entity that is not party to the agreement".
